WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armor glistening just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia? Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions are being sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by some of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE—"Europe at War"

A big book and over 300 pages, size 10 x 7 inches, handsomely and durably bound in cloth, containing the dramatic history of the great events leading up to the present time; over 50 important and timely special articles; by experts on the different phases of the conflict; hundreds of graphic pictures, portraits, photographs, diagrams, specially drawn war maps, illuminating statistical records, copies of official documents and diplomatic messages exchanged between the powers—a clear, vivid, accurate, permanent, interesting and valuable record—a record which once seen you will not willingly be without. Europe's past and present are here dramatically pictured and presented. Hundreds of illustrations graphically tell their own stories. More fascinating than any romance, here is a history so vivid, so dramatic, so stirring, so fascinating, so realistic, so wonderfully presented, so thrillingly told that it leaves an indelible impression.

Your War News Clarified

It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos and the "Review of Reviews" will do it for you.

Lincoln McConnell—He Can Crack Paint on Wooden Indian's Cheek

RALPH PARLETTE says this about Lincoln McConnell: "I wish everybody who doesn't like lectures could hear him. I wish the king who never smiled again would sit in on a McConnell outburst. He can crack the paint on a wooden Indian's cheek. He can get juice out of a tombstone and flowers out of a snow bank. He can read a page from the Congressional Record and convulse you or a chapter from Webster's Unabridged and make you scream. And all the time be saving you!"

"He enjoys the lectures as much as anybody. He smacks his lips—the sentences taste so good. His face clouds, cartoons, brightens. He hammers away and just with the devil in the last ditch he stops and saves everybody with a smile."

"Remember, he is tremendously serious. You laugh, yell and cheer, you wipe the tears out of your eyes and push your ribs back into place and realize you have risen. It was a sermon all the time with the fun and side show just to save things. The audience has been shot and spanked and slugged, but everybody sees it was needed."

Lincoln McConnell has been lecturing under the title of "The Live Wire of the Chautauqua Platform" for ten years. He has averaged one address a day during the past eighteen years. His lecture time is sold five years ahead. He is a lawyer, minister and evangelist. He lectures on "Dead Lions," "Happy Homes" and "Does It Pay?" He will be here the last day of the Chautauqua to deliver one address in the afternoon and another at night.

WORKERS IN JAPAN RECKLESS

Result is That Accidents in Mills and Building Operations Appear to Be on the Increase.

Accidents in the mills, furnaces, factories and in building operations appear to be greatly on the increase in Japan, according to the Tokyo newspapers, says East and West. The Nichi-Nichi (Every Day) has set on foot an investigation, extending over nearly every branch of operative labor, and the conclusion reached is that many workmen are dissatisfied with their lots. Doubtless, growing discontent is due to tales of fabulous wages paid to working men and women in munition factories of the United States and Great Britain. Japan has supplied Russia with vast quantities of cartridges and weapons of all kinds, but the wages of her workmen have not been materially advanced. This is due to the claim that goods so supplied to their ally have yielded only fair profit—that there has not been any attempt by the Japanese people to "get rich quickly." The Nichi-Nichi finds that, due to the uncertainty of their positions, Japanese workmen are prone to grow reckless. They become unsteady and are often injured by being caught off their guard at work.

Eskimo Carving.

All of the Eskimo carving today is done with steel tools, but there is work in existence that dates back to the stone age. The older Eskimos say that their ancestors used tools of flint, and it is known that they have been carving ivory for many generations. Some of the very poorest of them and those that live in the most out-of-the-way places are noted for their work of this kind. They seem to do it for pastime, and make many toys and dolls for their children. They have a way of softening the bone, horn, or ivory before they work it, and to make the carvings more distinct they etch lines on the surface with a black paint made of a mixture of gunpowder and blood. This, when put on the freshly-cut bone, makes a permanent stain.

Some Don't Get Back.

The dusky tonsorial artist nervously busied himself among his implements of torture as the tired business man sank into the operating chair and prepared to rest while his stubble was being removed. The barber tucked in the ample bib, lathered the passive face and opened his conversational batteries.

"Ah just got back from a funeral," ventured the ebony as a starter. The tired B. M. opened one eye, cleared the lather out of the corner of his mouth and in a biting tone retorted:

"You ought to be blamed glad to get back—a good many people don't." And the shave continued amid a profound silence.—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

The Baby's Bath.

A word of warning to inexperienced young mothers: Never put the baby in water while the tub is standing over a heater, because many a baby has been severely burned in this way. Nor should you ever leave a young baby alone in the tub. If the phone or doorbell rings while baby is in the bath, and you have no maid to answer it, you will have to let it go unanswered until the baby is dried and wrapped up warmly.

Itching piles provoke profanity, but profanity won't remove them. Doan's Ointment is recommended for itching, bleed, piles. 50c at any drug store.—Advertisement.

How Times Have Changed.

It was raining heavily the other day when one of the uptown public schools was dismissed. In front of the school, waiting for the children, were nurses, mere parents, chauffeurs and relatives, and all of them were burdened with umbrellas, overshoes, raincoats and wraps. As the children came out they were bundled up and hurried away. An old man with a clay pipe upside down thrust between his teeth stood watching the picture while the rain splashed his damp person. "Covering 'em up like plants," he said. "Overshoes, umbrellas and the like. Say, when I was a boy this rain would have been good for us. We did not have any shoes, let alone overshoes, and as for umbrellas, why, we'd punch the kid's eye that would use one. Oh, well," he sighed, philosophically, "times change."—New York Times.

"An Eye for an Eye."

"Lex talionis" means the law of retaliation. It provided that the punishment should be the same in kind as the crime. Thus we have the expressions, "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth." "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." Many other expressions like these are found in the Bible and elsewhere.
